“For the last decade, the Loomis Sayles Senior Floating Rate and Fixed Income Fund has offered investors a strong addition to their fixed income portfolios,” said David Waldman, chief investment officer of Loomis Sayles. “The portfolio management team consistently draws on their extensive expertise in the bank loan market as well as the disciplined investment process Loomis Sayles is known for to achieve competitive yields.”

The team uses macro-guided portfolio construction and a long-term investment horizon, which has historically helped to reduce volatility and deliver attractive yield potential for investors seeking current income. Guidelines include investing at least 65% of assets in floating rate loans and up to 35% of assets in other fixed income securities.

Firmwide, Loomis Sayles manages approximately $4.8 billion (as of 30 June 2021) in bank loan strategies for institutional and retail assets for clients globally.

Past performance is no guarantee of future results.

Diversification does not ensure a profit or guarantee against a loss.

Commodity, interest and derivative trading involves substantial risk of loss.

Floating Rate Loans Risk: Floating rate loans are often lower-quality debt securities and may involve greater risk of price changes and greater risk of default on interest and principal payments. The market for floating rate loans is largely unregulated and these assets usually do not trade on an organized exchange. As a result, floating rate loans can be relatively illiquid and hard to value.

Fixed Income Securities Risk: Fixed income securities may carry one or more of the following risks: credit, interest rate (as interest rates rise bond prices usually fall), inflation and liquidity.

Below Investment Grade Securities Risk: Below investment grade fixed income securities may be subject to greater risks (including the risk of default) than other fixed income securities.

Leverage Risk: Leverage can increase market exposure and magnify investment risk.

Foreign and Emerging Market Securities Risk: Foreign and emerging market securities may be subject to greater political, economic, environmental, credit, currency and information risks. Foreign securities may be subject to higher volatility than US securities, due to varying degrees of regulation and limited liquidity. These risks are magnified in emerging markets.

Non-Diversified Risk: Non-diversified funds invest a greater portion of assets in fewer securities and therefore may be more vulnerable to adverse changes in the market.

Morningstar rankings for the Loomis Sayles Senior Floating Rate and Fixed Income Fund in the US Fund Bank Loan category is as of 30/9/2021. The fund's total return percentile rank for the specified time period is relative to all funds that have the same Morningstar category. The highest (or most favorable) percentile rank 1, and the lowest (or least favorable) percentile rank is 100. Rankings are subject to change monthly.
