

John Hyll

John Hyll is a vice president of Loomis, Sayles & Company and portfolio manager for the Loomis Sayles fixed income group. John co-manages long duration portfolios, including the Loomis Sayles Long Duration Corporate Bond strategy, Long Duration Government/Credit strategy, and customized LDI mandates. John is also a voting member of the yield curve team which provides the firm's interest rate forecast. He is a member of the US Government Sector team. He joined Loomis Sayles in 1987 and has 36 years of investment industry experience. Previously, John worked for National City Bank as an investment officer. He was responsible for managing a $200 million US Treasury, agency and corporate bond portfolio as well as a co-managing a $1.9 billion taxable bank holding company portfolio. John earned a BBA and an MBA from Baldwin Wallace College.