

PATRICK SCARDINO

Pat Scardino is a credit trading assistant for the disciplined alpha team at Loomis, Sayles & Company. He is responsible for supporting the trading desk's daily operations and trade processing. Pat began his career in the investment industry in 2010 and joined Loomis Sayles in 2020. Prior to joining Loomis Sayles, he was a trading/operations associate at Farallon Capital Management supporting their global trading effort with end-to-end trade processing, confirmations and settlements. Pat began his career as a registered client associate within the private banking group at Merrill Lynch and has since held roles in trading, operations and technology with both Sculptor Management in London and Eze Software Group. He earned a BA in business economics with a minor in engineering from University of California, Santa Barbara.