

TOM FAHEY

Tom Fahey is a vice president and co-director of macro strategies at Loomis, Sayles & Company. He analyzes global investment conditions, conducts macro-oriented research to determine relative value between countries, currencies and asset classes, and develops tools and processes to facilitate investment decisions. In addition, Tom is a co-portfolio manager for the Loomis Sayles world credit asset strategy. He has 26 years of investment industry experience and joined Loomis Sayles in 2010. Previously, Tom was a senior portfolio manager and global bond strategist at Standish Mellon Asset Management. Prior to joining Standish, he worked at The Bank Credit Analyst (BCA) Research Group as a foreign exchange strategist. Tom earned a BA from St. Francis Xavier University in Nova Scotia and an MA from Concordia University in Quebec.